

New York, October 25, 1950

Dear Jochev,

I have spent the last four hours house-cleaning - for the first time in a month. Now I am very tired and my head aches a little but I feel better. I am playing ~~the~~ Ruhl ~~Wohl~~ and in a few minutes I will go to bed. Perhaps a little homework can be done tomorrow morning.

I telephoned home this evening to discover that I had forgotten Peter's birthday - the first time such a thing has happened. I guess because Peter has changed so much in the last year or so and I feel estranged. I also telephoned Janet and must go to see her Saturday afternoon. Did you know that she and Bob are going to Cleveland for Thanksgiving?

Today my class and I discussed medieval ideas of justice and compared them with modern ideas and practice. Do you remember the long discourse you made on the way to Kinnaroch - to keep yourself awake?
Much that you said then helps me now

Thursday Morning
I do not know what it is. I am sleeping badly again and feeling very tense. Please write to me - even a few lines. Now I must go to school - studying clippings about the elections on the way.

Please keep well. I need you.

Love

Margaret